AGENDA REPORT

Item #: 7

Date: November 4, 2024

Item Subject: Discussion Regarding Law Enforcement Services and Opportunities to Partner with the City of Ferndale and the City of Trinidad

Submitted By: Mandy Mager, City Manager

General Information:

As part of the Sheriff contract negotiations, several issues were brought up concerning liability, future cost increases and current and future service levels. Due to the County's position change regarding indemnification, the City's risk managers have expressed concern regarding the current contract, as well as future contract negotiations.

City staff, as well as our partners at CIRA (risk managers), have continued to look for viable options for the City and have begun discussions regarding opportunities to collaborate with the City of Ferndale, the City of Trinidad and CIRA to provide law enforcement services that better meet the needs of the community.

Recently, I met with the Managers of Ferndale and Trinidad, the Chief of Police for Ferndale and our risk manager, to tour Ferndale's police department and to begin discussions on options and opportunities. At this time, there seems to be two options that could be simultaneously pursued and vetted; this includes directly contracting with Ferndale for services and the development of a Joint Powers Authority to encompass a wider array of services that could be made available through our relationship with CIRA.

At this time, I am recommending that the City authorize staff to pursue the development of both options and to bring back periodic reports on the progress. CIRA is committed to providing resources to aid in the development and vetting of reasonable options and solutions.

Summary Report Provided by Erike Young-CIRA Director

Summary:

Of the six municipal members in Humboldt County, four have their own police departments (Arcata, Eureka, Ferndale, and Fortuna), with the other two contracting for law enforcement services with the Humboldt County Sheriff's Office (Blue Lake and Trinidad). In the most recent contract with the Sheriff's Office, the County modified the indemnity language and now requires that the Cities indemnify the County for law enforcement services. This is a significant change that not only impacts the individual members but has the potential to increase the potential liability for all CIRA members. CIRA staff has been working with Blue Lake and Trinidad to find alternatives to contracting with the County and has identified two possible solutions that would involve the City of Ferndale providing services either through a direct contract or the formation of a law enforcement joint powers authority (JPA). Staff has conducted an analysis of both options, as well as providing further background information.

Background:

Over the last fifteen years, the City of Blue Lake and Trinidad have contracted for law enforcement services with the Humboldt County Sheriff's Office. Originally, these contracts included regular patrol services with minimum hours that would be provided. The contracts also included language in which the County would indemnify and defend the City for claims involving the law enforcement services provided. This essentially means that if the City was sued due to a claim of excessive force by a deputy, the County would defend and indemnify the City. This is the standard language that we have seen for all counties which provide contracted law enforcement services to a municipality.

Over the years, due to budget and staffing constraints, the Humboldt County Sheriff's Office has made changes to the contract. The initial changes made in 2018, were moving from dedicated officers and minimum patrol hours to now only providing law enforcement response when called. In the most recent contract update for FY 2025, the Sheriff's office made a significant change to the indemnification language. The new contract requires the cities contracting for law enforcement services to indemnify and defend the County.

The effect of this change is that a contracted City (Blue Lake or Trinidad), would now be required to pay for the defense and any liability costs involving a deputy who used excessive force when responding to a call within the City's jurisdiction. The potential liability costs to the City and CIRA are significant and would impact the other CIRA members through increased excess liability costs. The indemnity language does include a provision that the City would not be responsible for claims involving the "sole or active negligence" of the County, which we would believe most claims would fall under; however, the member City and CIRA would still have to pay the cost to defend that argument. In addition to the liability concerns, the current contract is only for one year, and the expectation is that the costs of those services will increase significantly when the contract expires.

Potential Solutions

Working with the members in the area, two possible solutions have been identified that would involve the City of Ferndale providing services either through a direct contract or the formation of a law enforcement joint powers authority (JPA). Having Blue Lake and Trinidad form their own police department was also considered, but deemed not feasible at this time due to costs and infrastructure needed. It should also be noted that the City of Arcata was approached due to their proximity to Trinidad and Blue Lake, but they are not structured to provide on-going law enforcement services for rural operations.

Option 1-Direct Contract with Ferndale for LE Services

As the City of Ferndale has an active and well trained police department, and is willing and able to provide law enforcement services to Blue Lake and Trinidad, a direct contract would be the easiest option to implement. A direct contract would be similar to the contract Blue Lake and Trinidad have with the Sheriff's department; however, the City of Ferndale would indemnify those receiving services. The proposed service model being discussed would include having dedicated resident officers provide regular patrol services for the City, similar to a school resource officer (SRO) program. Those receiving services would pay the fully loaded cost of the officers, including employee benefits and general liability and workers' compensation insurance costs. Those receiving services would also be responsible for equipment and infrastructure costs, such as vehicles, radios, and uniforms.

Option 2 – Formation of a Law Enforcement JPA

The proposed service model of providing dedicated resident officers provide regular patrol services would not change, but the governance and potential liability to the members would shift to a newly formed law enforcement joint powers authority. Under this option, all parties involved would be members of the Law Enforcement JPA and would be governed by a Board of Directors appointed by the member agencies. The City of Ferndale would be the lead agency providing law enforcement services, with the Police Chief operating as the police chief for the JPA. While the officers would be employees of the City of Ferndale, all of the employment costs and potential liabilities would be the responsibility of the JPA.

The JPA would obtain workers' compensation and general liability coverage, as well as other required insurance coverages, and would agree to indemnify and hold harmless the participating members. The formation of the JPA would also allow the operations to grow and contract, based on the needs of its members. It could also expand beyond the three parties being discussed.

The formation of a LE JPA would require that all parties sign a JPA agreement that would outline the services and responsibilities of the Authority. CIRA staff has identified an existing law enforcement JPA that could be used as a model in crafting a JPA agreement.

Recommendation:

Although the options have been presented as one or the other, CIRA Staff recommends that the options be considered in phases. As the current option provides for a direct contract for services, this should be considered “Phase 1” and allow the contracting member agencies to work on any service delivery issues, while also addressing the increased liability concerns with contracting with the County Sheriff.

A sample contract has already been developed and can be utilized as a basis for discussions to begin providing services within the next several months. The formation of a law enforcement JPA should be the longer-term goal and part of Phase 2. The JPA will require that all governing bodies of the member agencies agree upon a JPA agreement, which may take some time. Allowing members to directly contract for services while issues are being worked out will also help identify any operational issues that should be included in a final JPA agreement.

Once formed, the JPA would also need to obtain insurance coverages. While all member agencies are members of CIRA, the CIRA Board of Directors would also need to approve the application of the newly formed JPA.

Finally, if there is interest in forming a law enforcement JPA, there needs to be “buy in” from the respective governing bodies to move the discussions forward. CIRA staff recommends that an MOU be drafted that would identify the JPA formation process, who would be involved, and how costs associated with the development would be allocated, among other issues. CIRA staff has offered to assist in moving the process forward and can help address any liability concerns raised by the members.
